A Roof For Many

We saw some great response to our December letter, asking for support of a much needed roof replacement project that will enable us to continue serving our neighbors and providing opportunities for university students to learn and grow. However, we still need $10,000 to reach our goal.

The December letter invited these two options to help us reach our goal:

- Every person/group gives $35 OR
- Every person/group that regularly supports the pantry or LCM gives $250

If you haven't yet given to this project and find yourself able to now, simply write "roof" in the memo area on your check.

A matching grant has been offered for first time donors. The first $1,000 of donations made from individuals that we don't have on record for making a donation in the past two years will be doubled. Your gift of $35 could be worth $70!

LCM WISH LIST

- ◆ $110 to buy a Shruti Box (simple musical instrument) for use at our Dinner Church gatherings
- ◆ Volunteers to help with set up and/or food for our monthly Dinner Church gatherings.
- ◆ Access to Thrivent Action Plans—there are creative projects we can tackle together that will enrich our students and community!

Go In Peace to Serve

I don't know how or why, but I've absolutely fallen in love with baby sloths. Every time I look at one of these strangely adorable little things a smile creeps across my face with enough force that it seems to lift my shoulders. My mood is lightened and suddenly the worries of the world seem a little less. And right now we live in a world ripe with worry and division. Some applaud our president and want others to give him a chance, while others are genuinely afraid of having their rights and freedoms taken away. Add differences of opinion on immigration, arts funding, and climate change to the mix... and we have one mess of situation to deal with.

Christ calls us to action, most emphatically yes! No one should sit passively by while rights are stolen and people are oppressed. Even Jesus spoke and acted out at the money changers and sales people in the temple. But Christ also calls us to prayer, to compassion, and to love. Whatever side of the political fence we may sit on, name calling and expulsion will not bring change; it will only divide us further and produce more harm.

Often times the debate we want to fight on face book or even face to face, is fueled by anger and hatred. Perhaps when we find ourselves most needing to retort, we should pause and give ourselves some space. I've found that for me, posting a cute baby sloth rather than responding with the anger and hate that's boiling in my heart, is a personal practice that helps me disengage and recall that the person I'm so worked up at is my brother or sister. The picture generates, at least for me, a smile and some positivity in the midst of a situation that was growing darker by the second.

As we say at the end of worship, "Go in peace, and serve the Lord." There's a lot of work to be done in the world, and we are sent, each time we gather, not to fight each other in word wars; but to get out there and get to work as God's agents of love and change.

Trust in God,

In October of 2016, Lutheran Campus Ministry hosted a fundraising and friend making event at the Smittcamp Alumni House at Fresno State.

There was music and dancing provided by the very talented John Pemberton, a BBQ dinner made by University Catering, a raffle full of fantastic prizes, and delicious western themed cupcakes donated by Trinity Lutheran of Fresno's WELCA.

Many hands and feet helped make the event the great party that it was; too many for me to thank without inevitably missing some. But I must lift up two names— those of the stellar women who served on the planning committee, gathering for meetings throughout the spring, summer, and fall of 2016. A round of applause is in order for Barbara Benedict and Lori Kamlade.

Many thanks are also extended to all who attended the event. LCM is thankful for your support and friendship.

Darcy Jensen Scholarship

In honor of the great work done by former campus pastor Darcy Jensen, a scholarship was established after his death. Each year LCM Fresno awards one graduating high school senior a $1,000 scholarship. The 2016 scholar was Morgan Lari from Christ Lutheran in Visalia.

Please invite high school seniors in your life who exhibit Christian service and love to apply for this scholarship this year. Application materials will be sent to churches in March. Furthermore, 2017 applications are currently available at lcmofffresno.org

Creative Spirit

When was the last time that you sat down with colored pencils or paint brushes and created something? We too easily lose touch with our creative side as we age. Life is full of too many demands to have the time or energy for such supposedly childish activities.

Last fall during finals week, LCM, with the help of a Thrivent Action Plan, provided a space for students to reconnect with their long lost creative side. Pastor Paul and LCM student President Alondra hosted a "Creative Break" space in the student union. Snacks, music, and art supplies were provided for students to drop in for a break and a breath of fresh creative air.

Dinner Church

We ended 2016 with an extra fancy Dinner Church banquet at which we reflected on Mary's strength and bravery to sing against all odds, trusting that through the midst of chaos and turmoil, God's justice and love were - and continue to be - sovereign.

Many thanks to LCM alumni Jen Smith for her help and support with Dinner Church. Growing children have lead her to shift her energy toward other endeavors. If you'd like to help with food or set up at future Dinner Churches, please contact Pastor Paul.

THANK YOU!

Lutheran Campus Ministry is a rooted Lutheran presence in the University community. We provide space for students to ask questions and grow in faith. We help young people step into rolls of leadership and service. We provide opportunities for worship and renewal. We feed the hungry in and around our neighborhood. And we maintain a relationship with and presence on the campus of Fresno State.

We could not do this without the continued support of a variety of individuals and organizations. Thank you! Of course, there are many other ways to support LCM and the Bulldog Pantry with your gifts of time and talent. Please don't hesitate to connect with Pastor Paul if you would like to help in some way.

Below are the individuals and organizations that supported Campus Ministry or the Bulldog Pantry financially during the 2016 calendar year. 2016 giving statements went out on January 31st. If you do not receive one, please contact Pastor Paul.
